

WILLIAM JEFFERSON CLINTON

I'm thrilled to support Heifer in Greater New York, an all-volunteer, grassroots organization that raises money and awareness for Heifer International's life-changing work.

Now in its seventh decade of serving those in need, Heifer International is a truly world-class organization. Its team of dedicated individuals has reached nearly 14 million families around the globe, and the evidence of their impact on rising rates of health, income, education, and gender equality is overwhelming. In all its efforts, Heifer is paving the way toward an end to poverty and world hunger through a sustainability model that empowers individuals and promotes a system of self-reliance.

I've valued the opportunity to see Heifer's incredible work firsthand through its generous partnership with the Clinton Global Initiative—and I'm delighted that its headquarters are just a stone's throw away from my Presidential Library in Little Rock and that both our buildings received Platinum LEED ratings.

I hope you will join me in supporting this extraordinary work by attending the third annual Pass on the Gift Benefit on April 24, hosted by Heifer in Greater New York, or by purchasing livestock for a family in need. Together, we can make a difference.
