Call for Student Poster Presentations
Abstract Submission Deadline: Monday, January 30, 2019
Poster Session: Thursday, February 21, 2019 – 12:00-1:00pm

Graduate and undergraduate students are encouraged to submit abstracts for review. Poster presentations are invited on the conference theme of mental health and health communication. Posters may report preliminary results of work in progress. Presenters may submit a poster that has already been presented or will be presented at a national or international conference. Scholarly presentations consistent with the mission of the event and the Center for Health Communication will be selected, and the first author will be notified via e-mail by February 4, 2019. To RSVP and learn more about the event: https://moody.utexas.edu/centers/health-communication/mental-health-health-communication

Abstract Submission Instructions

Format: One page, single spaced, Times 11-pt, 1” margins, 500 words maximum

Organization: Purpose; Methods; Findings; Conclusions

Cover Letter: Request to submit, author(s) name, credentials, affiliation, address, phone, e-mail, where previously presented (if appropriate) and a permission to publish statement as follows:

If selected, I agree to present a poster at the CHC Mental Health & Health Communication symposium on February 21, 2019. I give permission for the abstract and a photo of the poster to be used for distribution in all forms of media [print, electronic, website, video].

First Author: First author can be selected only once; first author will be contact person.

Submission: Submissions are accepted by e-mail only. Application materials should be e-mailed to mackert@utexas.edu. Further details about poster specifications will be provided upon notification of acceptance.

About the Center for Health Communication

The UT Center for Health Communication (CHC) is a joint academic center of the Moody College of Communication and the Dell Medical School. The CHC defines health communication as the science and art of using communication to advance the health and well-being of people and populations. The CHC’s mission is to mobilize an interdisciplinary group of scholars and practitioners to create evidence-based health communication scholarship, education, and public health practice.