LLOYDS BANKING GROUP SPONSOR THE ASIAN WOMEN OF ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Lloyds Banking Group is proud to sponsor the Asian Women of Achievement Awards (AWAs) for the 6th year running. Year after year Lloyds are amazed at the calibre of talent that the AWAs unearth and Lloyds believe these awards are a fantastic way of recognising the contribution that Asian Women are making to British life and the economy.

The 2010 shortlist has now been announced and there are some fantastic nominees including Maisy Ng, managing partner of venture capitalists, Add Partners; Farah Ramzan Golant, Chief Executive, AMV BBDO; Shazia Awan, CEO of fast-growing underwear brand Peachy Pink.

Long term champion of the AWA's, Kamel Hothi, Niche Markets Director explains: "As the largest UK Financial Services organisation, Lloyds Banking Group is passionate about recognising and celebrating the success of women. Participating in events like the AWA's has helped Lloyds Banking Group improve its cultural understanding. We know that respect and family are important to Asian women and as a Relationship led bank we believe we can assist and are committed to supporting them in grasping the opportunities before them."

The awards take place on the 19th May at the London Hilton, Park Lane and to view the full shortlist please visit \(http://awa.realbusiness.co.uk/2010_shortlist/\)
