

How Do You Reprocess Bedpans?

Bedpans pose a risk of infection to the clients who use them and to healthcare staff. Due to the variety of options that are available, there are no universally accepted consensus guidelines on the processing of bedpans. It is therefore up to each health-care facility to decide which method is best for their organization. Fortunately, there is a comparative analysis of bedpan processing equipment that may help you decide which process might be best for you. Click here for more information.

(<http://www.aetmis.gouv.qc.ca/site/250.1138.0.0.1.0.phtml>)