Tear Gas Disrupts Prayers For Three Days in Duraz Mosque
http://manamavoice.com/news-news_read-20612-0.html

Tear gas has disrupted prayers in a mosque Duraz for three days. Security forces fired tear gas canisters at the mosque while suppressing a protest in the area. In the initial raid they broke a window and burned the mosque's carpet.

The gas has not dissipated and continues to be suffocating, preventing mosque attendees from performing prayers. The Imam of the mosque expressed frustration with his inability to perform prayers in the mosque, while people in the area confirmed that security forces deliberately targeted the mosque.