You are invited to the next dinner seminar on Chronobiology and the Brain.

Tuesday, May 29, 2018, 530-700pm

Fengfeng Bei, PhD

"Challenges on regenerating the retinohypothalamic tract”
Assistant Professor, Department of Neurosurgery
Brigham and Women’s Hospital, Harvard Medical School

Warren Alpert Building, Room 236,
Harvard Medical Quad, 200 Longwood Avenue
Dinner and drinks will be served. Registration is required.

RSVP

Chronobiology and the Brain, is an ongoing dinner seminar series that welcomes theoreticians, human biologists, geneticists, clinicians, and biochemists from the Greater Boston area.

For more information, contact Jonathan Lipton, MD, PhD F.M. Kirby Neurobiology Center, Boston Children’s Hospital, or Raj Aryal, PhD. Or visit our web page.