Honolulu gets ready for bikeshare riders

June 20, 2017

Bikeshare Hawaii has been in the news hundreds of times over the past few years, most recently as it began installing bike stations. As the name implies, bikeshare is a bike-rental program that has many benefits.

Residents who would like to ride a bike without the worry of storage will now have the option to do so. This is especially important for our seniors who want to stay active. The bikes are sturdy, include a basket and are economically priced. Educational material will be available for visitors who may be unfamiliar with our traffic laws.

In addition, stations are conveniently located to promote more ridership.

Many groups and individuals participated in meetings and discussions to bring bikeshare to Hawaii. It’s great to see the implementation, and we look forward to many bikeshare rides around town.

Natalie Iwasa
President, Cycle On Hawaii