Dr. Steven Horne  DNM, RH
Modern medicine is focused primarily on the relief of treating symptoms. This isn’t health care; it’s disease care. Treating symptoms is like cutting the wires to the warning light in your car and thinking you’ve fixed the problem.

To obtain true health care you have to look deeper than the symptoms and find the root cause of the problem. As pioneer herbalist Samuel Thomson said, “Remove the cause [root problem] and the effect [disease symptoms] will disappear.”

In this presentation, Steven Horne will share the key things he has learned in his nearly 40 years of looking for the roots of people’s health problems. He’ll explain how to shift your focus from hacking at the branches of your health problems to getting rid of the roots so that you can enjoy a high level of vitality and lasting health.
