At WWF Switzerland, 220 employees and more than 3,000 volunteers work together to protect nature and the environment. They pursue the WWF’s goals of maintaining biodiversity, using our resources sustainably and promoting environmentally friendly lifestyles.

A few years ago, we began a pilot initiative within the international WWF network to promote ventures in the environmental sector. Our aims included making conservation more effective and promoting the setup of self-financed initiatives that create added value for the local population in biodiversity hotspots.

The next step is now to scale up this initiative and establish relevant processes. To meet this challenge, we are looking for a

Head WWF Impact Ventures

Your role
You will manage the entire WWF Impact Venture Initiative and take primary responsibility for strategic partnerships relating to acceleration and financing vehicles. You will connect internationally with representatives from the WWF network, key external partners and investors, and strive to strengthen entrepreneurial skills within the network.
You will lead a complex, interdisciplinary and international team that includes external partners, establish clear roles and efficient processes within this team, and promote a culture of cooperation and trust.
You will report directly to an international governance board. You will be actively supported in your daily work by the CEO and Head Marketing of WWF Switzerland. Your superior is the CEO of WWF Switzerland. The preferred place of work is Switzerland.

Your profile
You possess the necessary experience and expertise to successfully master this highly challenging role. Particularly vital is an advanced knowledge of investment processes and the management and coaching of startups. You possess highly developed leadership skills and can manage interdisciplinary and multicultural project teams. High resilience and a strong ability to work independently are fundamental requirements.
You share the values and goals of WWF and are ready to join forces with us to push for effective environmental protections.
You possess business fluency in English and sufficient German or French skills to participate fully in a Swiss organization.
Your salary will correspond to the market standard for a Swiss NGO.

Your application
Are you interested in this position? Juerg Zuellig will be happy to receive your completed application (CV, motivation letter and references), by email at jobs@wwf.ch.