

HORTON FUTURE FORUM

Fall 2015 Speaker / Dr. Jeffrey Dietrich

Economic Outlook: 2016 & Beyond

What do the leading indicators tell us about what's to come?

As businesses look to start the budgeting process for next year, deciding on who to hire, what equipment to purchase, etc., are all impacted by questions about the future of the U.S. and global economies. Volatility has returned to the stock market, unemployment is down but wages remain stagnant, and there is continued discussion about the speed at which the Fed will increase interest rates.

Please join us for an economic outlook from Dr. Jeff Dietrich on these issues and other factors to help you best prepare your business for what lies ahead.

Dr. Dietrich demystifies economics, bringing an often-confusing maze of economic information into sharper focus and resulting in practical business application. He has more than 30 years' experience as a keynote speaker for groups on economics and trend cycles. He is also the author of Horton's biannual Manufacturing and Construction Economic Outlook reports.

For a preview, visit <http://www.thehortongroup.com/economy>.

Please join us for this exclusive, invitation-only event presented by one of the country's foremost experts on macro-economic trends and what this means for your wealth and your organization's future.

RSVP today at the venue of your choice:

Registration: 7:30 - 8:00 AM | Start Time: 8:00 AM

Elkhart, IN / The Crystal Ballroom at the Lerner Theater: October 6, 2015

Oak Brook, IL / Hamburger University: October 7, 2015

Milwaukee, WI / University Club of Milwaukee: October 8, 2015

To reserve your seat, visit us online at www.hortonfutureforum.com/events.

Speaker / Dr. Jeffrey Dietrich

Dr. Jeffrey Dietrich is a senior analyst for the Institute for Trend Research. More than 30 years of public speaking experience before large and small groups enables Jeff to demystify economics, bringing an often-confusing maze of economic information into sharper focus and resulting in practical business application.

Exclusive Thought Leadership Events

Horton's Future Forum is an exclusive, invitation-only Thought Leadership series; essential for business leaders interested in understanding, identifying and managing future risk. Our knowledge, coupled with industry expertise, help leaders navigate the future opportunity and position their companies for success.

Visit the Horton Group website at www.hortonfutureforum.com for more information on upcoming events.

Insurance / Risk Advisory / Employee Benefits

HORTON

7.7.15

About The Horton Group

Horton is an insurance, employee benefits and risk advisory firm that leads clients with complex needs and limited resources to a higher level of performance. We help clients understand enterprise risk and offer solutions to turn these perceived costs into a competitive advantage.

800.383.8283 / www.thehortongroup.com