Joshua Poe is an independent researcher, activist, and city planner in Louisville, KY. He created and developed the interactive storymap Redlining Louisville: The History of Race, Class, and Housing in Louisville, KY. He is currently working on crowd-investment strategies to revitalize formerly redlined neighborhoods through participatory planning.