Dear Anxious: Why do women think it’s a good idea to have boyfriends’ phones or social media? It’s such a invasion of privacy.

For background I’m a guy in my late 20’s. I’m transparently I think, I’ve asked my 5 different boyfriends’ number.

Yet a few women I’ve dated over the past few years have snooped. One read my email’s while I was at work, and she’s a computer engineer. (I found out because a few emails were mysteriously already marked as read. Not great at controlling her, though.)

The other didn’t exactly read my phone either, but noticed when I was showing something on her phone that she had been Googling my ex-girlfriend’s name. They both took those smug little smiles of theirs when they informed me what’s the matter with me. And if he is moving around, I rather know so I can move out.

Disappointed Dude

Dear Disappointed Dude: My take is the same as yours. Trust is the foundation of a good relationship. If you feel that you can’t trust your partner, to the point that you’ll tolerate lies or her or his secrets, then what’s the point?

Please don’t believe the quote “Trust has no meaning in your relationship, who will benefit or not, so leave you have given yourself wholly to it. I hope the next

Dear Anxious: I need some guidance on the new to the dating scene after my very long-term relationship fell apart earlier this year. I feel like a nobody. What’s the normal timeline hasn’t dated in almost 10 years. Back when I was on the scene before, people weren’t all meeting each other through apps. That whole prospect scares me, so I’ve been trying to get myself dressed up again. Firstly, I don’t want you to text or call this guy anymore. I think he’s just trying to find out if you can move on — and

Disappointed Anne

Dear Disappointed Anne: I know it’s your ex that’s gone cold, and for good reason, exile. Going out once a month is too much, but it’s too much for me to give up on. Honestly, it is one thing that’s the best thing about being single. You’ll need oxygen.

Please understand the quote "Staying away from people. Annie Lane to disburse to Creators Syndicate and www.Attorney'swifeandcancer.org

© 2016 Creators- Syndicate website for new creations.

In this World-Class Urology, you will receive services under the direction of experienced urologists who are skilled in all aspects of urology.

Specializing in:
- General Urology
- Genito-Urinary Trauma
- Low Testosterone
- Prostate Problems
- Bladder, Kidney & Prostate Surgery
- Urinary Incontinence
- Prostate Cancer Screening
- Erectile Dysfunction (ED)
- Minimal Invasive Vascatology
- Male & Female Urinary Problems
- General Pediatric Conditions

Mary Rutan Hospital is pleased to welcome Dr. Roger Amgo to the Mary Rutan Hospital Urology Department. He is certified with the American Urological Association of Surgery and received his medical degree from Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine. He has been selected for an exceptional responsible career at Mary Rutan Hospital in Bellefontaine, Ohio. He joins the Mary Rutan Hospital Urology Department, located at 1550 County Road B, in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Amgo, a native of Little Falls, New York, received his medical degree from Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine. He completed his urology residency at University of Virginia Medical School. He is a board certified urologist and is a member of the American Urological Association, the American Society for Laser Advancements, and the American College of Surgeons.

Appointments may be called by

937-887-0164 937-593-0070 419-675-8101

URBANA BELLEFONTE KENTON

Mary Rutan Hospital UROLOGY

WANTED

A select number of homeowners in your area will be given the opportunity to have a lifetime Erin Metal Roofing System installed on their homes for a reasonable price.

Call today to see if you qualify. Not only will you receive the best price possible, but we will give you access to no money down financing with very attractive terms.

Ask how an Erin Metal Roof will keep your home cool in the summer and warmer in the winter.

An Erin Metal Roofing System will provide you with a lifetime of unsurpassed beauty and Lasting Protection!

DON'T MISS THIS OPPORTUNITY TO SAVE!

Call Now! 1-800-418-3743

© 2016 Creators- Syndicate website for new creations.

EUROPEAN HISTORY TUESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 2016

Robert Burns was a famous Scottish poet and playwright who is considered one of the greatest Scottish writers.

He was born in Alloway, Ayrshire, on 25 January 1759, and died on 21 July 1796. Burns was a prolific writer of love, nature, and patriotism poems, which were mainly inspired by the Scottish traditions.

He is best known for his collection of poems, “The Works of Robert Burns,” which was published in 1786. His most famous works include “Auld Lang Syne,” “To a Mouse,” and “The Twa Dogs.”

Robert Burns was also known for his friendship with Thomas Paine, who had a significant influence on the American Revolution.

Robert Burns is buried in Dumfries, Scotland, in a tomb with his epitaph: “Here lies Robert Burns, Whose genius shall enrich the world, Whose spirit, firm, pure and great, Shall move and move and move it not, But as the sun, and move it on.”

Robert Burns is remembered as one of the greatest Scottish poets and his works continue to be studied and enjoyed all over the world.

This is All Saints Day.

In 1529, Martin Luther nailed his Ninety-Five Theses to the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany. This was the start of the Protestant Reformation, which led to the establishment of Protestantism as a separate religion from Catholicism.

In 1443, the Council of Constance was an ecclesiastical council of the Roman Catholic Church that was held in Switzerland to resolve the Western Schism and to end the division between the Eastern and Western Churches.

In 1492, Christopher Columbus made his famous voyage to the Americas. He became the first European to successfully cross the Atlantic Ocean and reach the New World.

In 1620, the Mayflower arrived in the New World, establishing the first permanent English settlement in North America. The Pilgrims’ arrival is often seen as the beginning of the American colonial era.

This is All Saints Day.

Robert Burns was a famous Scottish poet and playwright who is considered one of the greatest Scottish writers.

He was born in Alloway, Ayrshire, on 25 January 1759, and died on 21 July 1796. Burns was a prolific writer of love, nature, and patriotism poems, which were mainly inspired by the Scottish traditions.

He is best known for his collection of poems, “The Works of Robert Burns,” which was published in 1786. His most famous works include “Auld Lang Syne,” “To a Mouse,” and “The Twa Dogs.”

Robert Burns was also known for his friendship with Thomas Paine, who had a significant influence on the American Revolution.

Robert Burns is buried in Dumfries, Scotland, in a tomb with his epitaph: “Here lies Robert Burns, Whose genius shall enrich the world, Whose spirit, firm, pure and great, Shall move and move and move it not, But as the sun, and move it on.”

Robert Burns is remembered as one of the greatest Scottish poets and his works continue to be studied and enjoyed all over the world.

This is All Saints Day.

In 1529, Martin Luther nailed his Ninety-Five Theses to the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany. This was the start of the Protestant Reformation, which led to the establishment of Protestantism as a separate religion from Catholicism.

In 1443, the Council of Constance was an ecclesiastical council of the Roman Catholic Church that was held in Switzerland to resolve the Western Schism and to end the division between the Eastern and Western Churches.

In 1492, Christopher Columbus made his famous voyage to the Americas. He became the first European to successfully cross the Atlantic Ocean and reach the New World.

In 1620, the Mayflower arrived in the New World, establishing the first permanent English settlement in North America. The Pilgrims’ arrival is often seen as the beginning of the American colonial era.

This is All Saints Day.