COST EMF - MED (Action BM1309):
European network for innovative uses of EMFs in biomedical applications

Call for Grant Applications:

International School of Bioelectromagnetics, Erice, 11-16 April 2016

On April 11-16, 2016 the VIII COURSE of the International School of Bioelectromagnetics “Alessandro Chiabrera”: Electromagnetic Fields and the Nervous System: Biological Effects, Biophysical Mechanisms, Methods, and Medical Applications, organized by EBEA and COST Action BM1309, will take place in Erice, Italy. The course directors are Vincenzo di Lazzaro (Campus Bio-Medico University, Rome, Italy) and Bernard Veyret (IMS-CNRS, Bordeaux, France).

Program of the Course can be seen at COST EMF-MED website (http://cost-emf-med.eu/), and more detailed information will be posted as it becomes available.

COST EMF-MED is glad to offer at least 13 grants of 650€ each. According to COST Vademecum, 5.3 (COST Vademecum), the Trainee Grant is a contribution to the overall travel, accommodation and meal expenses of the Grantee. These will be paid as fixed grants after the Training School (grantees sign the attendance list - no other receipts are needed for justification of expenses).

The school registration fee for COST grantees is set to 800 €, which includes food and lodging. The fee is paid directly to local organizers of Erice school. All questions related to the fee, registration and on-site logistics should be directed to Erice school Director and Local Organizer, prof. Ferdinando Bersani, e-mail: ferdinando.bersani@unibo.it, cc: the course directors (school@ebea.org).

The program is planned to start on Monday, April 11th at 14h, and finish on Saturday, April 16th at lunch, with a touristic tour on Saturday afternoon. Students are expected to arrive by Sunday April 10th and depart next Sunday April 17th, and the fee of 800 € covers the food and lodging for that period. Arrangements for a shorter stay (e.g. Monday morning - Saturday evening) should be communicated with the Local Organizer.

Those interested are kindly requested to send by Friday, March 4th March 11th at 24:00h CET:

1) Motivation Letter (up to 2 pages);
2) Curriculum Vitae (CV) (up to 2 pages);
3) Reference Letter or a Letter of Recommendation.

by email to ESR/STSM/Training Coordinator (ESTC), Prof. Stavros Koulouridis (koulouridis@upatras.gr), cc: cost-emf-med@fesb.hr

Subject of the email should be "COST EMF-MED. Application Grant for Erice Bioelectromagnetics School 2016".
Important note: eligibility for COST EMF-MED grants is restricted to the participating countries: http://www.cost.eu/COST_Actions/bmbs/BM1309?management

Interested participants should also express their interest by filing this Doodle poll the soonest possible:
