Sentenced for life: Kameel Al Manami seen in hospital with obvious marks of torture and fatigue.

http://bahrainalyoum.net/?p=24925

The family of the detainee Kameel Al Manami, who is sentenced for lifetime imprisonment, mentioned that he was seen on Wednesday 25th March 2015, in the orthopedic department in Salmaniya medical complex. The witnesses also mentioned that he was seen in the nose, ear and throat specialty department as well. His family declared that they had no information about him having any appointments for these medical appointments They expressed their concern of him being tortured during the latest attack on Jau prison, on 10th March 2015.

Al Manami was seen surrounded by two armed civilians, and they tried to prevent people from getting near him or seeing him. He seemed exhausted, and his body had obvious marks of torture. Also, his hair and beard were shaved.

His family explained that telephone calls are still denied, and they haven't heard from him for 16 days. His family is very concerned, especially his mother and young daughter.
On Wednesday, MOI forces surrounded Salamniya medical complex, and took in a number of detainees, who seemed very tired and were covered with many scars and beating marks. They were surrounded with MOI members, to prevent people from getting close to them. The detainees had many broken bones and some were bleeding.

Most of those detainees are among the group that were hidden by the prison authorities and not allowed to contact their families, since the attack.

The family of Al Manami believes the government and prison authorities have full responsibility for the safety of their son and stated that “violations currently happening in Bahraini prisons are against the law.”